

Hello, Team Toko! When sharpening your edges, there are two main options: Tuning by hand with a file or using a machine like Toko's Edge Tuner World Cup. Read on to see some of the reasons why I recommend tuning with a machine.

Toko Edge Tuner World Cup

With the budget-friendly Toko Edge Tuner World Cup, the entire process of sharpening your edges is quick, simple, intuitive, and enjoyable!

- Easily adjustable side edge angle from 0 to 5 degrees
- Long-lasting edge that will stay sharp longer when compared to hand-filed edges
- Replaceable diamond discs, ranging from extra fine to coarse
- Due to how the disc works, no burr is left on the edge, and no extra polishing is required
- Quick and easy to use when compared to files
- Easier for new tuners to learn, and offers superior ski performance for even the most seasoned tuners
- Removes less edge material than files, preserving the longevity of skis and edges
- More consistent edge sharpness day-to-day
- Affordable and budget-friendly
